

National Park Service
U.S. Department of the Interior

Miami Circle Archaeological Site
Florida

The National Park Service needs your views and ideas

The National Park Service is starting a study to look at the national significance, suitability, and feasibility of the Miami Circle archaeological site. When completed, this study will be forwarded to Congress and they will determine if the Miami Circle should be included in the National Park System as part of Biscayne National Park.

You are invited to attend an informal open house:

Please come talk
with members of the study team
about your ideas and concerns
for the future of the Miami Circle.

Date: Thursday October 21, 2004

Time: 3:00-7:00 PM

Location: Sheraton Biscayne Bay
495 Brickell Avenue
Miami, Florida

Information on this project is available at:
<http://www.planning.nps.gov/parkweb/default.cfm?RecordID=211> or email us at: Miami\_Circle@nps.gov

Thank you for your interest!